TEACHERS' CLUB

OPENING CONCERT OF ITS COURSE GREATLY PLEASES APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE

The audience which gathered at the High School Tuesday evening for the first of the series of entertainments arranged by the Teachers' Club, enjoyed a delightful program by a trio of artists, Harold Webster, violinist; Ruth Hutchinson, lyric soprano, and Maud Howard, pianist, whose accompaniments were gems of artistic finish. She has the ability to exquisitely embroider the main theme and yet subordinate it to the major part. Her work contributed much to the success of the program.

Richardson D. White, Superintendent of Schools, called the gathering to order and announced that he was introducing a new organization, the Teachers' Club, the avowed purpose of which as declared in the preamble to its constitution is "to promote educational influences in this community." He then introduced Miss Clara Midcalf, president of the club, who announced the coming programs of the course and their dates, after which the program opened with the Sonata for violin and piano (opus 45 by Grieg) by Mr. Webster and Mrs. Howard. The three movements gave opportunity for Mr. Webster to be heard at his best, the minor cadences of the Norwegian composer being especially suited to his talents. As interpreted by him the theme pictured grief in an empty house degenerating into loneliness and fear. Then courage triumphantly reasserts itself to be succeeded by tranquility and the memory of past happiness, played with great sentiment. Then the music paints an attempt to forget the past and abandonment to joy, but memory persists and occasionally the dirge suggestive of loss penetrates the tranquil phrases which indicate reconcilement with fate and the passing of the pangs of grief. Mr. Webster was again heard in "Romance" by Wieniawski, which is seriously sentimental, the tripping melody "Bagatelle" by Sin-

TO VISIT TORRANCE

Members of the general science class of the High School under Miss Brown will visit the glass works at Torrance this week. As there are about one hundred such students they will go in three divisions, the first delegation going today, Wednesday, Saturday. Miss Brown attended a conference of science teachers of Los Angeles county, which was held at Riverside, when the entire gathering visited the cement works at Colton, and the processes carried on at this plant have been described by Miss Brown to her pupils, it being her aim to give them a practical working knowledge of how science is applied in manufacturing businesses.

GLENDALIANS ENTERTAINED AT MONROVIA

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Bartle entertained at their hospitable home in Monrovia Sunday evening at dinner a group of special Glendale friends of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Brown, who resided in this city for several years and with whose friends here the Bartles also became well acquainted: The party which motored to Monrovia during the afternoon included: Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Thom, Miss Virginia Thom and Livingston Thom, Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Sherman. Following the dinner a social and musical evening was enjoyed.

WOMAN'S CHURCH DAY

Nearly fifty members and their friends gathered Tuesday at ten o'clock in the morning work room of the Glendale Presbyterian Church, this being the regular monthly Church Day of the Society. Mrs. W. J. Smith, the president, was in charge. Sewing of various kinds was finished by noon. On account of the supper served by these ladies Monday evening to the New Era Conference, the regular hot luncheon was dispensed with, each lady bringing her own, coffee being served by the committee.

The afternoon program consisted of a devotional service by Mrs. Wilkin. Mrs. Sinclair and Mrs. Newton were leaders for the Mission department. With the assistance of Mrs. King, the tiny tots of the Primary Department put on a most interesting program, consisting of drills, songs and recitations.

WEATHER FORECAST: Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday. Temperature unchanged.

CLUB SECTIONS

SHAKESPEARE CLASS PREPARING FOR RECITAL—LITERARY MEMBERS STUDY ARMENIA

Monday afternoon the Shakespeare Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, of which Mrs. E. D. Yard is curator and Mrs. C. B. McClure, leader, was entertained at the home of Miss Mabel Rudy on Lomita avenue. The section has been studying Othello, a study which it will complete at its next meeting. The whole club is to profit by its work, for in the course of a few weeks it will have an open meeting at which scenes from the play will be given and at which club members who do not belong to the section will be entertained. In preparation for this program a group of members which included Mrs. Walter Jones, Mrs. R. A. Puffer, Mrs. Charles Parker and Mrs. H. W. Ralston attended a performance of Othello at the Mason Opera House in Los Angeles Tuesday evening.

The Literary Section met as usual Tuesday afternoon at the home of the Curator, Mrs. Charles Hutchinson. The program included a review of the history and government of Armenia by Mrs. George Adams, Current Events in Art, Literature and Religion by Mrs. L. E. Plasterer, and in Science and Invention by Mrs. Edgar Leavitt, and a review of the book, "Uncensored Celebrities," by Mrs. Hayward.

In her consideration of Armenia Mrs. Adams set forth in graphic phrase the years of suffering which have been endured by the people of that land under their Turkish oppressors: how they have always been an agricultural people who, if left to themselves would have achieved industrial independence, but who have never been able to attain any of their possibilities because of the continued massacres to which they have been subjected. Now, she declared, their condition is so awful it can scarcely be told in words.

Important facts were presented under current events, one of special interest relating to the new lenses in motion picture cameras and the color work in motion pictures that is being done by Earl at Hollywood.

The book, "Uncensored Celebrities," reviewed by Mrs. Hayward, had to do chiefly with Englishmen who are in the limelight, including such outstanding figures as Lloyd George, Lord Curzon and Earl Cecil Gray. Few Americans were mentioned, and the criticisms quoted from the book were not such as Americans are most accustomed to hear.

The meeting was very well attended and there was some discussion of the Christmas programs which the section has in contemplation.

FINE CHICKEN DINNER

A very great success was the chicken dinner served by the Ladies' Aid of the Central Avenue Methodist Church Tuesday evening. It could hardly be otherwise in so appreciative a community as Glendale, in view of what they offered for fifty cents. The tables had to be reset three times to accommodate all who came to enjoy the three-course banquet of home-cooked delicacies and preliminary reports indicate that about $50 will be cleared by the society and applied upon its subscription to the church debt. The committee of arrangements consisted of Mrs. Valeria Kopp, president of the society; Mrs. C. H. Muhleman, Mrs. P. O. Lucas, Grandma Lucas and Mrs. H. Pentecost. Ladies who assisted in the serving were Mrs. Marion Smith, wife of the pastor, Mrs. Charles Klamm, Mrs. Norman West and Miss Emily Kopp.

ANOTHER VICTORY

GAME WITH COVINA YIELDS SCORE OF 14 TO 6 FOR GLENDALE HIGH'S TEAM

Another victory crowned the banners of the High School football taam as a result of the game with Covina played on the Glendale field. The score stood 14 to 6 in favor of the home team. It is now facing its tug of war, in other words, the game which is to decide the championship of the league. This is to be played Friday afternoon on the Glendale campus with Citrus Union High, which, like our own team, has thus far had an undefeated record. It will mean considerable excitement in the neighborhood of the high school and a big audience of spectators made up of parents and other friends and patrons of the competing schools besides the student body.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER OF INSTRUCTION

DECLARES LODGE PROPOSAL IS NOT RESOLUTION OF RATIFICATION BUT OF "NULLIFICATION"

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Senator Hitchcock read at a meeting of democratic members of the senate held today to plan final action on the Lodge ratification resolution, a letter sent to him by the president urging the defeat of the resolution.

The president declared that the resolution is not one of ratification but of "nullification." He further declared: "I sincerely hope the friends and supporters of the treaty will vote against the Lodge resolution of ratification" adding that the door will then probably be opened to "a genuine resolution of ratification."

Some of the republican leaders said that if the president's advice is followed by the democrats, the treaty cannot be ratified. The letter threw all compromise proposals in the air. Senator Lodge caustically commented on it saying: "The president is undertaking to command the senate to ratify the treaty without reservation and he cannot do it."

ALL QUIET AT CALEXICO

TROOPS GUARD AGAINST DEMONSTRATION ALONG BORDER—MURDERER IN CUSTODY AT MEXICALI

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

EL CENTRO, November 19.—Reports received at the sheriff's office today showed that all was quiet at Calexico where trouble was feared yesterday. Troops are still maintaining their watch in order to guard against demonstrations along the border.

The Mexican policeman who is alleged to have shot Eugene Lack, causing the trouble, is still in jail in Mexicali under the orders of Governor Cantu.

THE LODGE RATIFICATION

SENATORS LINE UP FOR AND AGAINST THE MEASURE IN HEATED SESSION PRELIMINARY TO THE VOTE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, November 19.—Senator Lodge today formally presented to the Senate his resolution of ratification of the peace treaty. Consideration of the resolution to date has been by the Senate as a committee of the whole. Senator Lodge then offered to permit Senator Hitchcock to introduce a resolution without reservations but Hitchcock refused saying he wanted to wait until after the vote on the Lodge resolution had released certain senators from their pledges.

Tension reached a high point with senators shouting for an immediate vote. Senator Smith of Georgia declared he will vote for the Lodge resolution, although it does not entirely agree with his views. Senator Knox, Republican, and Senators Thomas and Robinson declared they would vote against the Lodge resolution. Senator Sherman, Republican declared: "For the first time since the armistice I find myself in agreement with the administration" and said he would vote against the Lodge proposition.

L. A. LIMITED ROBBED AT MEDICINE BOW

U. S. CAVALRY, COWBOYS AND BLOODHOUNDS JOIN IN HUNT FOR BANDIT, ESCAPED CONVICT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

MEDICINE BOW, Wyoming, November 19.—U. S. cavalry and cowboys accompanied by bloodhounds today joined in a hunt for William Carlyle, an escaped convict who robbed the Los Angeles limited near here last night. Over two hundred men are in the posse which has joined in the hunt. A squad of cavalry from Fort Russell arrived here today to give aid.

Carlyle escaped Saturday from the Wyoming penitentiary after getting himself out of the prison by hiding in a packing box. Trainmen estimated that he secured a big haul but all agreed that he had refused to take anything from women, children, soldiers and sailors.

GERMAN LABOR DELEGATES GO HOME

FIND IT WILL BE IMPOSSIBLE FOR THEM TO REACH U. S. BY OPENING OF LABOR CONFERENCE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

GOTHENBURG, Sweden, Nov. 19.—Delegates to the International Labor Conference now meeting in Washington, under the league of nations, decided today to return to Germany after learning here yesterday that they could not reach the United States before the conference begins.

THE COAL CONTROVERSY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Addressing a joint meeting of coal operators and miners' representatives, Fuel Administrator Garfield today declared that the public interest is "the paramount issue" and warned against charging excessive prices for fuel. Government officials said they saw hope of a settlement of the coal controversy this week.

VALUE OF BIRDS

ALFRED COOKMAN GIVES INFORMATION ABOUT ECONOMIC WORTH TO FARMERS

Prof. Alfred Cookman, head of the Department of Science on the Santa Monica Schools and son of the pastor of the West Glendale Methodist Church in this city, contributes the article published herewith in which he follows up his defense of the Meadow Lark as given in a recent interview:

I have been asked to submit a brief article on the value of our birds to the farmers and fruit growers and "nature lovers" of the City of Glendale in the columns of the Glendale News. I have traveled and lectured in many of our Southern California cities, but I have not discovered a more enthusiastic and appreciative class of folks than to be found right here in Glendale. The school boys and girls are taking a new interest in the great out-of-doors. Fathers and mothers have taken a new impetus in the study of Natural Phenomena. The "Press" is wide awake on topics of nature study and in her columns one reads of modern discoveries and investigations. With this spirit of enthusiasm, a greater love for dumb animals and a more genuine interest is being manifested by the populous of the City of Glendale. A new era has evolved and a new desire to seek after knowledge seems to have been created, judging from recent reports that have been received at the laboratories and in the office of the Press. The rising generation are nature lovers.

"To him who in the love of nature holds communion with Her visible forms—she speaks a various language."

Birds are the farmers' most efficient allies. The public should know more about their ways. To really know the birds, one must live for hours with them. Birds congregate in places according to their liking, where there is plenty of food, water, shelter and a place for them to build their nests. One who is acquainted with the feathered friends, of course knows where to find them.

Our country is particularly fortunate in the number and variety of its birds. There are 12,000 species known to science. We have 1,250 species occuring on the North American Continent ranging from Alaska to the Isthmus of Panama. There are 564 species recorded as occuring within the confines of the State of California and the adjacent islands —Catalina, the Santa Barbara Archipeligo, San Nicholas and the Los Coronado Islands, Old Mexico. We have more varieties of birds in California than in any other state in the Union. California has enlisted 168 water fowl, 108 game birds, 377 common birds; six humming birds, there is only one species east of the Mississippi River; 97 finches and sparrows, 23 hawks; 19 owls and many island denizens.

A study of the economic side of bird life and of the relations of birds to the farmer and horticulturist have been greatly stimulated in the United States by Federal aid and supervision and in no country in the world have the activites of birds been so carefully investigated with reference to their practical learning.

Dr. Henshaw, in a recent publication from Washington, D. C., has truly said, that under the Biological Survey of the Department of Agriculture is a corps of trained men, who study the food of the birds by careful examination of stomachs of specimens killed for scientific purposes. The information thus gain-

D. A. R. FUNCTION

Quite a delegation from the Richard Gridley Chapter of the D. A. R. of this city attended the card party and reception given by Los Angeles chapters at Hotel Alexandria Tuesday afternoon. Members of the Escholtzia Chapter and also the ladies composing the reception committee were dressed in handsome colonial costumes. A large sum was realized, a part of which will be contributed to the fund being raised for the restoration of the birthplace of La Fayette in France, a task to which the National D. A. R. has pledged itself. For those who did not dance a charming program of music and fancy dancing by fine artists was provided, which was followed by tea in the Indian Grill Room. While it was being served whistling numbers were contributed by Margaret McKee. Ladies from this city who enjoyed the function were: Mrs. J. H. Braly, regent; Miss Ida Myers, secretary, and Mesdames Ocker, Houston, Leppelman, Follansbee, La Grosse, Rathbun, Crawford, Strong and Hayward.

THE HOUSE PROBLEM

GLENDALIAN SUGGESTS ORGANIZATION OF A BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION

It was at a real estate office and the ever-present theme—the need of more houses in Glendale to meet the needs of would-be residents, was being discussed. Some one suggested as a remedy to supplement the contributions of the men who are now building for investment that an organization similar to the original Building & Loan Societies might be formed. J. A. R. Monroe, of 315 West California, was present, and declared: "I got my first start in life through such an association in Providence, Rhode Island, The stock was issued at regular intervals in pools, with only so much stock to a pool. That insured continuing maturity. The amount of stock that could be held by any individual or company was limited, so there was no chance for any individual interest to secure a monopoly. If we did not pay our dues on the first and third Wednesdays we were fined two cents a month. The regular interest paid on loans was six per cent.

"The use of funds was limited to members of the association and to give all a fair chance they were auctioned off to the highest bidder. Sometimes the bids averaged as high as 25 to 30 per cent, but when one took into account the fact that this premium was distributed over the whole period of the loan and that it was a profit in which all members shared, it did not represent as great an expense as appeared on the surface. The stock matured in 10½ to 11½ years, when an investment of, say $600, would have increased to $1000."

Mr. Monroe seemed to think that such an arrangement to pool their interests might help considerably to solve the problems of home seekers in these difficult times and give them an opportunity to acquire homes built according to their own ideas with an expenditure equivalent to the amount they would pay out in rent.

Mr. Monroe has been a poultry raiser for a number of years. He declares there is no profit in the eggs sold now at 85c per dozen because so few hens are laying. In other words, the cost of maintaining a non-producing flock more than offsets the returns from the few layers.

LIBRARY NOTES

A called meeting of the finance committee of the Board of Trustees of the City Library was held Monday evening at which a decision was reached to continue the finishing of the interior of the Juvenile Room in the basement. Dwight Stephenson, one of the new members of the board who fills the place of Mr. Hibbert, resigned, was present and displayed great interest in the work of the library. Mrs. Kemper Campbell, the other new member, was unable to attend.

Mrs. Danford, the librarian, states that a bibliography of all materials in the library in the way of books, pamphlets, etc., relating to Thanksgiving is now to be had and will be of value to students in the schools and others seeking information relative to the origin of Thanksgiving or literature relating to it.

PREDICTIONS VERIFIED

Mrs. Kelsey, of 430 Burchett St., states that acting on the advice of friends and neighbors who told her a "For Sale" ad in the Glendale Evening News always brought results inside of two days, she inserted an advertisement of a sewing machine for sale. Within fourteen hours of the time the ad appeared in print the machine was sold, justifying the good predictions of her friends. She assures the News that she will be one of its faithful boosters from this time forward.

NEAR HEAVEN

Mrs. M. F. Foster, formerly of Pittsburg, Pa., is increasingly enthusiastic over the charms of Glendale. And Mrs. Gertrude Mutzig thinks Glendale is much nearer Heaven than Pittsburg, Pa., because there one can seldom see the blue sky or the stars, while here one may gaze into their glorious depths every night. She also thinks that Glendaleites are really more Heavenly than Pittsburgers. Why not? We think it ought to be so, for "The heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament sheweth His handiwork. Day unto day uttereth speech and night unto night sheweth knowledge."

ed is supplemented by observations in the field and the result is a large amount of valuable data illustrative of the economic relations of many kinds of birds.

America has been favored with a great variety of birds famed both for beauty and for song. America possesses certain families, as the humming birds and wood-warblers, the like of which exists nowhere in the world. California is considered by a large majority of naturalists to be the "Birds' Paradise" and their song fills our soul with delight.

In considering the topic in question, the writer feels certain that by careful introspection into the field of ornithology, the casual field observer will discover the true, scientific fact, that "our" birds are nature's check upon insect life! We advise the skeptical agriculturist and "non-evolutionist" to study all the known methods of protecting the fruit before attacking the birds. The more food habits are studied the more evident is the fact that with a fair supply of natural food the damage after all is small compared with the benefit.

Consider birds as servants, employed to destroy weeds and insects. In return they should be protected and are entitled to some fruit and a little grain.

"All birds have their part to play in the great economy of the earth and it is a dangerous experiment to upset the balance of nature."

As a bulk of insects spend more or less time in the ground, so we find that more birds are fitted for terrestrial service than for any other.

Our large bird family, the Fringillidae—finches and sparrows are terrestrial and although its numbers depend much upon seeds for their little share of food, they have added to their bill-o'-fare, a great many troublesome insects. They are ably aided in the good work by the thrushes, wrens, certain of the warblers, blackbirds, orioles, towhee's and many other birds.

I have on hand in my field notes, the record of a San Diego song sparrow (melospiza fasciata cooperi) eating 154 insects in three minutes and forty-five seconds. He had been eating for a half hour before the count began and continued for some time after it was finished. A fox sparrow ate 103 seeds in two minutes and forty-seven seconds.

When I was studying Indiana birds at West Baden and French Lick, a robin was listed having eaten 174 worms in three minutes and thirty-two seconds. A great many species of birds devour twice their weight in insects and weed seeds every day. The average life of a bird is from five to ten years.

The worst enemies of the California fruit industry are the jay, the linnet and the quail. The latter on account of his game protection and recognition as one of the grandest little game birds in the west demands the respect of the hunters and sportsmen. All true lovers of nature will or must admire the quail and his peculiar antics. The jay, the linnet, the English sparrow and the California shrike or "butcher birds" are not protected by law, excepting three hawks and an owl, all other birds are most rigidly protected by Fish and Game Laws.

Every year grasshoppers and other insects destroy $53,000,000 worth of hay and $2,000,000 of cereals. The department of agriculture estimates that the American farmer loses annually as a result of insects the amount in excess of $800,000,000 because of the destruction of insect eating birds.

The California jay destroys nests and eggs of song birds. Dr. Joseph Grinnell has estimated that there are 126,000 jays in Southern California. If 18 per cent or 22,680 each robbed a nest daily for 60 days from March to July that over 1,360,800 nests would have been destroyed. Blue jays are a nuisance and have proven to be a detriment to the bird life of our canyons.

I have been told by bee men in the San Gabriel mountains of Southern California that the Arkansas King Bird (Tyrannus verticalis) destroys bees. Of 78 stomachs examined 87 per cent contained animal food and 13 per cent vegetable substances. In 29 stomachs were found drone bees and out of all the stomachs examined, only one worker bee was recorded. Fourteen per cent of the food of this bird is beetles; twenty per cent consists of grasshoppers and ten per cent dragon flies and mosquitoes. The King bird is one of our most valuable fly catchers destroying thousands of insects annually.

It is a scientific fact, that without the birds there would be no vegetation and without the vegetation there would be no life. Every family of birds plays its own part in the warfare against insects and other foes to man's industry. My earnest plea is for the conservation and propagation of our feathered friends from the mountains to the sea.

Out in New Mexico even public signs come direct to the point. They do not waste any time in wondering how the reader will feel about it.

In a garage at Albuquerque is posted:

"Don't smoke around the tank! If your life isn't worth anything, gasoline is!"—Island Motorist.

SOFT DRINKS FALSELY LABELED

Prohibition has been followed by a flood of soft drinks of every conceivable type and variety, many of which are falsely labeled, the Government contends. Literally, hundreds of new beverages have been rushed to the soda fountains and "ade" stands by makers who have not informed themselves of the provisions of the food and drugs act directly concerning their industry. The Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture, which enforces this act, finds that a principal source of difficulty for numerous makers of soft drinks is their disregard of an opinion issued by the bureau several years ago, that "such terms as ade, punch, crush, and smash, when used in conjunction with the name of a fruit, can be applied correctly only to beverages, either still or carbonated, which contain the fruit or juices of the fruit named. Such terms should not be applied to products flavored only with essential oils or essences."

Labels which the bureau declares to be false have been resorted to by many soft-drink manufacturers in an effort to explain the cloudy appearance of their products. With the use of extracts made with alcohol rendered unlawful or inadvisable, soft-drink manufacturers have resorted to extracts which are in the form of emulsions. Speaking generally, these are just as good as the alcoholic extracts, but when used in drinks give the latter a cloudy appearance. This characteristic of many of the new beverages has led manufacturers to attempt an explanation by employing wordings and illustrations in their labels which specifically state or imply that the beverage contains fruit juice or fruit pulp, whereas their product is really flavored only with essential oils or essences.

J. Q. Sand has sold his property, 308-310A California Ave. to Dr. Durkee.

Mrs. J. E. Jones is at present entertaining Mrs. Charles McDaniel, of Ray, Arizona.

J. W. Garner has just purchased from Geo. W. Warn, the cosy cottage at 604 Louise street.

Mrs. Etta Marsh, who purchased the Houdyshel home at 237 North Maryland avenue, is entertaining two ladies from the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Sladin have taken possession of property at 1234 South Maryland street, which they purchased recently and which was formerly known as the Melrose house.

Mrs. James McDonald, of West Park avenue, and her sister, Mrs. Pearl Guernsey, of Pasadena, will spend Thanksgiving with their mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, in San Diego.

Miss Beatrice Hellyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hellyer, with a party of school friends will take in the Shakespearean play, "Macbeth," which is being produced this week at the Mason Opera House.

Mrs. G. E. Burton of 114 West Windsor Road, who has been at the Good Samaritan Hospital in Los Angeles, is doing nicely and expects to be well enough to return to her home next week.

F. W. Pigg is the designer and builder of one of the neatest six-room, Colonial style bungalows that we have seen in Glendale. It is on Louise street. Fortunate, indeed, is the buyer of this new home.

Mrs. James Wilson of 352 West Salem street, who was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium a few days ago for treatment, is doing nicely and declares she already feels very much better.

The Wednesday Club is meeting today, November 19th, at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Sanders at 1320 North Brand boulevard. A cafeteria lunch was served and the afternoon is being given to visiting and sewing.

Miss Harriet Barnes, Miss Eva Green and Mrs. George U. Moyse will attend the convention of Girls' Leagues to be held at Riverside, Saturday, going as the representatives of the Glendale High organization. Miss Barnes is president, Miss Green secretary of the Glendale League.

At least one Glendale resident, who thinks there is no news worth mentioning concerning the family, is patriotic enough to keep the Stars and Stripes on the flag-pole. In addition to the beauties of nature surrounding thousands of homes, the flag of our native land is always the best adornment.

Mrs. A. J. Harrison of Windsor Road was hostess Monday evening at a little family dinner party, a joint birthday celebration for W. C. Cameron and his grandson, Leo Cameron. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cameron, Leo and Mary Cameron and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Harrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Armstrong have sold their property at 1225 South Maryland avenue and with their daughter, Hope Armstrong, have moved to the home of Mrs. Armstrong's mother, Mrs. Phoebe Myers, of 821 Mariposa street, who was recently bereaved of the daughter, Miss Josephine Myers, who lived with her and on whom she greatly depended. The Armstrong home has been purchased by August Otto.

Doner & Hemenway, real estate agents, are the authority for the information that from five to ten transfers of property are made here every day (except Sunday we hope). They have themselves re-sold one property three times within this year. First for $4000, then for $4300, next for $5000, and the present owner is now offering it for $6000. Probably other real estate men could match this interesting bit of news.

MASONIC NOTICE

Unity Lodge, No. 368, F. and A. M., will confer the Third Degree Tuesday evening, Nov. 25th, commencing at 6:30 o'clock. All Masons cordially invited. R. W. Masters, W. M.; A. W. Tower, Sec.

Attorney Bert P. Woodard has gone to San Bernardino on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Franklin of Central avenue motored Tuesday to Long Beach, where they spent the day with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Danford of 308 East Harvard street, were week-end guests in the home of Mrs. Ida Mason of Sunland.

Misses Mildred and Margaret O'Keefe of Los Angeles have returned home after spending several days as guests at the home of Dr. Paine-Jackman, 515 North Kenwood St.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Bartlett, who came here from Boston last May, are so pleased with Glendale that they have purchased the Vold house at 329 Milford street, and will move in about the middle of December.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Becker of 342 West Eulalia have sold their home there to new comers from Van Nuys to whom they will yield possession in about thirty days. Just where they will go themselves they have not decided.

Miss Louise Ayala, who has been spending the last six months in Glendale, returned to her home in Tampa, Florida, yesterday. Miss Ayala is so delighted with Glendale that she is planning to return within a few months.

The You and I Club, a purely social organization of neighboring women in the southern part of the city, is meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. J. Becker on West Eulalia. The poems of Edgar Guest, editor of the Detroit Free Press, will be the theme of the informal program.

Mrs. A. Fanset, of 433 North Louise street, who has been a resident of Glendale for twenty years, has rented her furnished home, and will remove on Thursday to Los Angeles, where she will reside for an indefinite time, expecting to return to Glendale later. Her presence here will doubtless be missed by many friends.

Mrs. W. P. Swanson, her two boys and little girl of Santa Maria, were guests for ten days of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jodon. On Sunday her husband and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reel, motored down from Santa Maria to take her and the children home. Monday evening the entire party, including Mr. and Mrs. Jodon, were theatre guests of the Reels at Grauman's in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Wheat, of Salina, Kans., are visiting their daughter, Mrs. A. A. Richards, at 343 Salem street. Mr. Wheat reports conditions in Kansas so flourishing that "half of the people" are able to come to California. One improvement which he would like to find in Glendale is a nice park, a "loafing place," or a "rest room," where men or women of leisure might pass the beautiful days.

Dr. N. H. Hamilton, who resided for twenty-six years at Santa Monica, came to this city three years ago for health reasons. He has so greatly improved while here that he now contemplates return to Santa Monica, where his business interests lie. He speaks in the highest terms of praise of Glendale, believing its climate to be unexcelled. He has been a constant reader of the Evening News, and desires to continue as a subscriber.

HAS SEEN THE BABY GROW

There is nothing more thrilling than watching a baby grow. Watching one's own town grow is likewise exceedingly interesting to one who has the welfare of others—not to say his own welfare—at heart.

Mike Drohan, of 208 East Dryden street, an ex-Southern Pacific and Santa Fe conductor, will celebrate his twentieth anniversary of residence in this vicinity, next month. He first lived on Kenneth Road. At that time Brand boulevard and Central avenue section was one large peach orchard, while Casa Verdugo section was a land of oranges. All there was of Glendale was then confined to a single block in the vicinity of Third street and Glendale avenue.

Mr. Drohan has delighted in watching the baby grow, but he says that many of the older residents of Glendale are profiting the least financially from the present boom.

Mr. Drohan has recently had his house sold "from over his head," and is out looking for another. He is 68 years of age, but hopes to live until he is 168 years, and "All the time in Glendale, even though obliged to live in a tent. Who has a house for him?

Some people say they are doing nothing extraordinary, and therefore are reticent about giving their names to appear in connection with personal news. Some say they send in no news items, but always enjoy reading "All there is" in the personal news column about others. True this may be, but is it right? Say, now, all ye lovers of Glendale! Why not begin now to overcome this diffidence or modesty as the case may be, and just for the sake of many who like to read—just for others, send or phone in brief news about yourself or friends. The editor does not know I am writing this, but he probably will not object.

A SUBSCRIBER.

Your wearing apparel and household articles are carefully sorted by trained workers—sorted and "pigeon-holed" in the same way that the mail clerk sorts and pigeon-holes your letters.

Woolens, silks, laces, badly soiled articles, linen, light colors, cotton, dark colors, curtains and so on are placed in special compartments and kept apart to be washed separately by special means.

A dozen methods for handling your family washing—these are what we employ. Isn't this immensely superior to the old-fashioned wash tub way?

It is this attention to detail—this specialization—that has made our laundry a conserver of clothes and a true economy.

Send us your family washing and we will give you ideal service and freedom from wash-day drudgery.

agaglia, "En Bateau," suggestive of mist and moonlight rather than dancing, sun-lit waves by Debussy and "Cantilene" by de Boisdessre. None of these numbers exhibited brilliance, but all showed delicacy of sentiment and refinement of feeling.

Miss Hutchinson completely charmed her audience and proved herself more than a lyric soprano. Dramatic soprano would fit the case better for all her numbers were infused with that elusive quality which carried them straight to the hearts of her hearers. Her voice is a wonder of pure, full tone with never a false note. It is the voice of youth in full flower, and so delighted was the audience it was ready to take her in its arms. The remarkable fact in connection with her singing—if report is true, is that her powers are largely the result of conscientious endeavor and fine instruction. It is said that when she began her study she had nothing unusual in the way of a voice; that she simply learned how to sing and demonstrated the things Mr. Kirchoffer is telling his chorus over and over again. Her control of the breath seems to be the great secret of her vocal powers. Her presence is also charming. Her numbers included the very beautiful "Come My Beloved" by Handel, the joyous "Spring Morning" by Carey, the dramatic "Ariso" by Delibes, "Tes Veux" by Rabey, to which Mr. Webster contributed a charming violin obligato, the dramatic "Magdalen at St. Michael's Gate" by Leymann, "With Me," by Bliss (a musical setting of Omar Khyam's "In the Wilderness"), the charming "Under the Greenwood Tree" by Buzzi-Peccia, the spirited "Love Is the Wind" by Mac-Fadyen, "Robin Robin, Sing Me a Song" by Spross and finally as an encore, when the audience refused to release her, "Who'll Buy My Lavender." It was an unusual program, most of the numbers being new to the majority of those present, and was a program which will encourage the public to expect much from the entertainments in the course which are to come.
